Recent Developments in European Patent Practice
Kevin J. Dunleavy, Esquire

Table of Contents

I. Introduction........................................................................................................V-3
   A. Recent Developments in European Patent Office Practice ...... V-3
   B. Terminology.......................................................................................... V-3

II. Implementation of EPC 2000 .......................................................................... V-4
   A. Effective Date ....................................................................................... V-4
   B. Highlights of EPC 2000....................................................................... V-5

III. April 2008 Changes to the Rules Relating to Fees............................... V-16
   A. Effective April 1, 2008....................................................................... V-16
   B. The Claim Fees have been Increased................................................. V-16
   C. Renewal Fees....................................................................................... V-16
   D. The Penalty for Late Payment of a Renewal Fee........................... V-17

IV. The London Agreement ................................................................................ V-17
   A. The London Agreement has been Ratified by a Sufficient Number of Contracting States........ V-17
   B. The London Agreement Significantly Reduces the Translation Requirements for Validation .......... V-17
   C. Under the London Agreement, No Translation will be Required for Validation............................. V-17
   D. If the Granted European Patent is in English........................................ V-17
   E. Irrespective of the Language of Grant of the European Patent....................................................................... V-17
   F. Sweden’s Parliament has Ratified the London Agreement......................................................... V-17
   G. The Current Status of Accession and Ratification of the London Agreement....................................... V-18

V. April 2009 Changes to the European Patent Office Fees........................... V-18
   A. Additional Changes to the European Patent Office Fee Structure.................................................................. V-18
   B. Per April 1, 2009, the Claims Fee for the 51st and Each Subsequent Claims will be 500 Euro per Claim ........ V-18
   C. Per April 1, 2009, there will be a Page Fee of 12 Euro per Page for the 36th and Subsequent Pages.............. V-18
   D. Per April 1, 2009, a Flat Designation Fee of 500 Euro per European Patent Application will be Payable Irrespective of the Number of Contracting States............................................. V-18
E. With Respect to European Patent Applications Originating from a Patent Cooperation Treaty V-19

F. Applicants may also Wish to Consider Presentation of Multiple Dependent Claims V-19

VI. European Divisional Applications V-19
A. In 2006-2007, the Enlarged Board of Appeals at the European Patent Office Issued Two Decisions V-19
B. G 1/05 Clarified that Divisional Applications Containing New Matter in the Application as originally filed in Violation of Art V-20
C. G 1/06 Confirmed that a Divisional Application Divided from a Prior Filed Divisional Application is Permissible V-20
D. G 1/06 also Held that a Divisional Application may not Include Subject Matter that was Unequivocally and Definitively Abandoned from the Parent Application V-20
E. Applicants should also be Aware that Current European Patent Office Examination Practice Rejects the Claims of Divisional Applications for Double Patenting V-20

VII. The New EPO-PCT Agreement V-21
B. Under the New Agreement, the European Patent Office can Still be Selected as the International Searching Authority (ISA) and the International Preliminary Examining Authority (IPEA) V-21
C. The European Patent Office, However, Still Limits it Competence to Act as the ISA or IPEA V-21
D. Per 19 February 2008, Documentation from Euro-PCT Chapter II International Preliminary Examination Procedures where the European Patent Office Acts as the IPEA V-21

VIII. Proposal for Centralized European Patent Courts V-21
A. The European Union Issued a Consolidated Proposal for Patent Jurisdiction V-21
B. Document 5954/08 is the Most Recent Proposal for a Single Centralized Court System V-22